In Oktober 2025 hat Afrique-Europe-Interact mit der Migration von Organisationen ARCOM in Beirut (Libanon) eine Konferenz zu Migration ausgerollt. Anlass war die 20. Geburtstag der ARCOM und der 10. Geburtstag des von ARCOM getragenen Interact und der ARCOM in Paris gegründeten Nachbundes Babesio für Frauen und ihre Kinder. Alle Fotos in dieser Zeitung sind während der Konferenz entstanden, auf Facebook sind einige der Beibild-Beschreibungen und ihre Datumsangaben zu sehen.

Despite and against the gloomy state of the world in general and the continuing racist shift to the right in particular, we remain committed to possibilism as we enter the new year. With this in mind, we have compiled a few introductory quotes that refer to events and publications from the past few weeks, all of which appear in this issue of Kompass.

The Kompass crew

„As a founding member of ARCOM, it was very moving for me to see that this small association, which we founded 20 years ago in a ghetto in a working-class neighbourhood of Rabat, has grown to such a size and has been able to bring together so many people from different countries."

(Emmanuel Mbolela in the new Afrique Europe Interact newspaper)

„New York will remain a city of immigrants, a city built by immigrants, powered by immigrants and as of tonight led by an immigrant."

(Zohran Mamdani on 5 November 2025 in his speech after being elected mayor of New York)

„Our goal: to act together, strengthen solidarity networks with people stranded in Libya, fend off political attacks and defend human rights."

(From the new Justice Fleet campaign launched in early November)

Justice Fleet

„Interestingly, studies on the culture of welcome in 2015 showed that many volunteers felt happy when helping others. ... Or in short: solidarity makes people happy."

(Manuela Bojadžijev on 26 November 2025 in Frankfurt at the medico event on the Summer of Migration)

„We need answers. And to take a stand. From all of us."
(RAV. e.V. in the invitation to its conference in June 2026)

„Together, we form an enduring network of defiance and care, a counter-force to the violence of the border regime and a living practice of transnational solidarity."
(From Echoes No. 19)

„So many people are now taking hope and courage into their everyday lives. Because anti-fascism and the fight for human rights take place every day."

(The 'widersetzen' network in its press statement after the successful mobilisation against the AfD in Giessen)

„The cross-border regional swimming actions and the nationwide youth revolt of 'Generation Z' (in Morocco) can be described as informal globalisation "from below" in light of the uprisings in Madagascar, Nepal and South Asia."

(Helmut Dietrich in „Sozialgeschichte online")

18.12.2025: STOP THE VIOLENCE: RISE UP AGAINST FRONTEX'S TRAINING FOR BORDER BRUTALITY!

„On December 18th 2025, internationale Migrants day, we are calling for decentralized actions against the escalating militarization of Europe's border regime. We must resist the increasing capacity for deadly policing. Resistance starts with dismantling Frontex's training infrastructure. Frontex is pouring millions of Euros into its first dedicated training center in Warsaw, set to open in October 2026.... From across Europe and North Africa we will send an undeniable message: we will not stand by as Frontex recruits and trains border guards to inflict violence against people on the move. Get organized in your respective cities as we call to #AbolishFrontexAcademy!

Some of the past actions included handing out flyers, dropping banners, grafs, street posters, gatherings, speeches, art installations, demonstrations, occupations, blockades, sabotages, forcing barrages, and more. There are many ways to take action and we can be creative!

Find more information about the Abolish Frontex movement and ideas for actions as well as a list of Frontex institutional and operational locations here.

PRO ASYL AND GFF: KARLSRUHE STOPS UNCONSTITUTIONAL PRACTICE: POLICE NEED SEARCH WARRANT FOR DEPORTATION FROM BEDROOM

"20 November 2025, Berlin/Karlsruhe – The protection of the home also applies to refugee accommodation. If the police enter a refugee's home without a search warrant for the purpose of deportation, this is unconstitutional. This was clarified by the Federal Constitutional Court in a ruling announced today on the constitutional complaint filed by PRO ASYL and the Society for Civil Rights (GFF). In 2019, police officers used a battering ram to enter the room of the Guinean complainant in a temporary accommodation facility in Berlin in order to deport him. The officers did not have a court order. In a ruling published today, the Federal Constitutional Court decided that, in principle, a search is deemed to have taken place when a person is visited in their room in a shelter for the purpose of deportation. "Deportations are not a carte blanche, and refugees' bedrooms are not a legal vacuum, but are specially protected under fundamental rights as the only and fundamental place of retreat. If the police want to enter here, they need a judicial search warrant – something that should be self-evident, as Karlsruhe has made clear today, thereby clearly rejecting the police's current deportation practice," says Sarah Lincoln, solicitor and lawyer at the GFF.."

NEW CAMPAIGN BY CIVILIAN SEA RESCUE ORGANISATIONS: JUSTICE FLEET

The graphic features a blue header with the text "Justice Fleet" and a navigation menu: "Contact", "Vision", "Alliance", "Coast Guard Watch", "Violent Incidents with Libyan Militias", and "Press". Below the header, the word "Alliance" is written in blue. Five icons represent the alliance's assets: a ship, an airplane, a group of people, a radio, and a circular logo. Below each icon is a statistic: "14 Ships", "1 Plane", "+10.000 activists", "10+ support organizations", and "+155.000 Rescued". At the bottom, the text reads: "We keep on fighting. We are 14 ships, 1 aircraft and thousands of activists. And we will continue to fight for human rights at sea!"

„...Ten years after the long summer of migration we launch the Justice Fleet - the largest alliance of civil search and rescue organizations ever. Our goal: to act together, to strengthen solidarity networks with those trapped in Libya, to fight back political attacks, and to defend human rights. We want to create public pressure to make political change happen.

End unlawful detentions.

No arbitrary blockades of rescue ships. No lawless prisons in Libya locking up people on the move. No prison sentences for refugees forced to steer their escape boats.

Protection for people on the move - and for all who stand with them.

Stop the instrumentalization of Libya.

Libya must no longer serve as Europe's mega-prison and battleground. No boats, no cash, no training for Libyan militias. No new Italy-Libya memorandum Crimes must have consequences.

Those responsible for crimes against humanity in Libya and on the Mediterranean must be held accountable. Justice for people left to die at sea and on land.

Protect international law: Scrap the Piantedosi Decree.

End the bureaucratic sabotage of rescue operations by Italian authorities. Stop trying to force us to obey illegal orders of violent militias like the so-called Libyan Coast Guard.

No more distant port assignments.

No weeks-long detours across Italy. Survivors must be disembarked quickly - and allowed to relocate in a fair and self-determined way.

For the right to move - safe and legal pathways

Human rights are unconditional. Evacuate Libya's privatized prisons and grant safe passage for those searching protection and a better life to come to Europe. That's the only way to stop the dying at sea. Human rights are for everyone or for no one...."

WE ARE HERE, AND WE WILL FIGHT! - ECHOES NO. 19

„While Libyan militias escalate their crimes at sea by shooting at rescue ships and at people on the move, Refugees in Libya organised an impressive protest against the EU complicity and the "deal of death." While Italian authorities continue their obstruction and repression of sea rescue, several NGOs started the Justice Fleet campaign as a collective response. While the EU governments plan to expand the system of detention and deterrence through the CEAS Pact, self-organised and antiracist networks, in a chain of actions, celebrated the 10th anniversary of the summer of migration, saying loud and clear – to complete the headline above : "Freedom of movement is everybody's right!"

HTTPS://CIVILMRCC.EU/ECHOES/ECHOES-19-WE-ARE-HERE-AND-WE-WILL-FIGHT/

„... Over the past ten weeks, the Central Mediterranean has once again revealed itself as a deeply contested space, a theatre of repression, violence, and impunity at Europe's maritime frontier. The EU's ongoing cooperation with Libyan militias has intensified, transforming the sea into a zone of militarized control and human rights abuse. (...) In this landscape of repression, resistance takes many forms: solidarity at sea, legal challenges in courtrooms, public protests, and the daily work of self-organized communities of people on the move. Together, we form an enduring network of defiance and care, a counter-force to the violence of the border regime and a living practice of transnational solidarity."

MEDITERRANEA UND SOS HUMANITY: ARBITRARY DETENTIONS BY THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT CONTINUE

Mediterranea at 15.11.25: 60 days of detention and a €10,000 fine: an unjust and punitive sanction.

We will continue to defend the right to life and to rescue at sea

Mediterranea Saving Humans denounces a new, heavy-handed attack by the government against our ship Mediterranea, which has been hit with a 60-day administrative detention and a €10,000 fine under the so-called Piantadosi Decree.

This is the second identical sanction imposed for the two missions carried out by our new ship. This time, it follows the rescue of 92 people, including women, men, and minors. This measure targets our rescue operations despite acting in full compliance with the Hamburg Convention on maritime rescue, which clearly requires assigning the nearest safe port after a rescue.

Even more serious is that the sanction comes despite two Public Prosecutor offices—the Juvenile Court of Palermo and the Agrigento Prosecutor—having ordered the immediate disembarkation at Porto Empedocle of all rescued people, including minors, vulnerable individuals, and those with physical or psychological fragility, who needed urgent medical care on land..."

SOS HUMANITY: RESCUE SHIP HUMANITY 1 WAS PROVISIONALLY DETAINED IN ITALIAN PORT OF ORTONA

„Following the disembarkation of 85 people on Monday, 1 December, including unaccompanied minors, the rescue ship Humanity 1, operated by the search and rescue organisation SOS Humanity, was provisionally detained in the port of Ortona, Italy, this Tuesday, 2 December 2025. In total, the crew of Humanity 1 had rescued 160 people in distress at sea in two operations last week.

The provisional detention was ordered by the Italian authorities to investigate whether Humanity 1 violated the Piantedosi-law for not having communicated with the Libyan Rescue Coordination Centre. The crew of Humanity 1 operated at all times in accordance with international maritime law, informing the competent search and rescue authorities and following its obligation to assist people in distress. As part of the largest alliance of search and rescue organisations to this day, the Justice Fleet Alliance, SOS Humanity deliberately suspended operational communication with the Libyan Joint Rescue Coordination Centre because the so-called Libyan Coast Guard cannot be considered a legitimate search and rescue actor, as was this year confirmed by the Italian Court of Catanzaro...."

ALARM PHONE: IN MEMORY OF MAHA, HAYDAR AND ZAYN

"The sea remembers every name, but the world forgets too easily."

„In the afternoon of November 11, Maha (37), Haydar (12) and Zayn (13) lost their lives when a boat with refugees coming from Libya capsized while a Frontex vessel approached them.

Maha had fled from Syria with four of her children, Haydar and Zayn, as well as two more of her daughters, aged 11 and 14 years who were among the survivors of shipwreck. Maha was trying to reach her husband and the children's father, who was already in Germany. German authorities had refused them family reunification – and so the Alawite family had no other choice to reach safety, than to flee by the small boat that later capsized.

The death of Maha, Haydar and Zayn is a direct result of the European policy of denial and racism. Those responsible for their death are in positions of power as German politicians. They have names, they are called Dobrindt or Merz.

On 10th of November 23:57 CET, the Alarm Phone sent an alert to Greek authorities, after we had received a call from the boat. It remained the only contact we ever had with the boat. This was about 15 hours before Frontex and the Hellenic coastguard arrived. The official statement of the Hellenic Coastguard says the refugees moved to the left side of the boat, causing it to take on water and capsize...."

ECCHR UND REFUGEES IN LIBYA: CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY COMMITTED ACROSS LIBYA - FIRST SUSPECT SURRENDERED TO THE INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL COURT

„Crimes against Humanity committed across Libya: First suspect surrendered to the International Criminal Court The Hague, Netherlands, 3 DECEMBER 2025 On 1 December 2025, German authorities surrendered Khaled Mohamed Ali El Hishri, also known as "Al-Booti," to the International Criminal Court (ICC). His transfer marks the first time a wanted suspect has been brought before the Court since the investigation in the Libya Situation was opened in 2011. This is an important step toward justice for victims of grave crimes committed across Libya.

"In times of attacks against the ICC, Germany's cooperation with the Court and its first-time surrender of a suspect sets an important precedent. In contrast, Italy's failure to surrender Osama Elmasry Njeem, now formally confirmed as a breach of its cooperation obligations, undermined accountability and reinforced impunity," says Andreas Schüller, co-director of the International Crimes and Accountability program at ECCHR.

As proceedings begin in The Hague, it is now crucial that the charges reflect the full range of crimes allegedly committed by El Hishri and all victim groups affected. No real accountability will be achieved without victims' meaningful and safe participation in the proceedings.

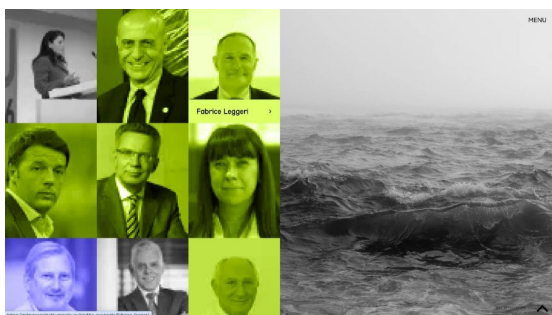

"We have been fighting for years to make sure migrant and refugee victims are not treated as invisible. This case must be different. Every survivor, no matter where they are or which passport they have, must be able to participate safely and with real legal support," says David Yambio, co-founder of Refugees in Libya.

El Hishri was arrested in Berlin on 16 July 2025 pursuant to an ICC warrant. He is a senior member of the Special Deterrence Force for Combatting Terrorism and Organized Crime ("Al-Radaa"), under the Libyan Presidential Council. This powerful armed group operates detention sites in western Libya, including Mitiga Prison, where El Hishri is alleged to have been a senior official. According to the ICC warrant of arrest, he is suspected of committing or overseeing crimes against humanity and war crimes between 2015 and at least early 2020. These crimes include murder, torture, cruel treatment, rape and other forms of sexual violence, persecution, and outrages upon personal dignity..."

FRONT-LEX ET AL.: WEBSITE ON THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR BORDER CRIMES - EU CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY

122 European officials suspected of Crimes Against Humanity against 'migrants' on the Central Mediterranean route

„... — Mapping each and every organ and agency involved in the design and execution of migration policies, at both the EU and Member State levels (see the Legal Brief);

— Extracting the names of all officials who worked in these organs and agencies during the period in which the alleged crimes were committed (see the Officials' Database);

— Assessing the potential individual criminal responsibility of these hundreds of officials, identifying 122 nationals of States Parties allegedly implicated in the commission of the crimes, and determining the extent of their involvement (see the List of Suspects).

This project portrays a decade-long, widespread, and systematic campaign targeting the most vulnerable civilian population on earth, at their most vulnerable moment: asylum seekers, fleeing armed conflict, in distress at sea. It exposes the identities of those behind what constitutes the most serious criminal enterprise outside an armed-conflict context ever to fall under ICC jurisdiction: the commission of countless crimes against humanity of murder pursuant to the EU's policy of mass killings by drowning; and the commission of countless crimes against humanity of deportation, enforced disappearance, torture, rape, enslavement, imprisonment, and other inhuman acts, pursuant to the EU's policy of refoulement by proxy. Both policies sharing the same goal: to prevent the arrival of asylum seekers to European shores at all costs...."

"Since 27 September 2025, Morocco's supposedly stable conditions have been shaken up for two weeks by a youth revolt that has found broad support among the population. 'The people want hospitals and schools' – this is how the main slogan of the street can be translated. The demands were for the overthrow of the government, which is closely linked to the royal family, and the release of all prisoners, including those from previous uprisings.¹ The background to the revolt is the rapid and extreme impoverishment not only of the traditional 'poor populations' but also of parts of the lower middle class. (...) Thousands of Moroccan children and young people are swimming to Ceuta these days. Morocco and the Spanish enclave of Ceuta, located on the African continent, closed their border completely in 2020. In 2021, women's demonstrations in the Moroccan border town of Fnideq (Spanish: Castillejos) articulated the demand for the immediate opening of the border. Their discontent then transformed into the young people's border-crossing swimming campaigns. (...) The cross-border regional swimming campaigns and the nationwide youth revolt of 'Generation Z' can be described as informal globalisation 'from below' in light of the uprisings in Madagascar, Nepal and South Asia. The swimming actions counteract the state's deglobalisation of border closures for the poor and lower middle classes, measures against Covid-19 and the fight against duty-free small-scale trade. The swimmers are literally risking their lives in the hope of a better future, now that their meagre family income and prospects of healthcare and education have disappeared. It is a youth revolt which, if it continues and spreads, will fuel the fears of global investors. This is because Morocco's major modernisation projects depend on investment flows not only from the United States, France and Spain, as has traditionally been the case, but also from the Gulf states, Israel, Turkey and India. (...)"

ANTI-FASCIST MOBILISATION AGAINST AFD YOUTH IN GIESSEN,

From the press release by 'widersetzen' (resist):

Following the successful blockades of the founding event of the AfD youth organisation, the alliance 'widersetzen' took stock of the weekend at a press conference. The alliance's spokespersons emphasised that anti-fascism takes place in various ways every day and that the resistance in Giessen is giving this work a boost. They also announced further resistance against the AfD: widersetzen wants to block the AfD party conference on 4 and 5 July 2026 in Erfurt.

Laura Wolf, spokesperson for the alliance

Widersetzen:

"We see that wherever the AfD is, people stand in their way. We delayed the last two party conferences for hours and yesterday we also blocked the founding of the far-right youth organisation. Our numbers are growing every time, and the blockades are getting longer every time. The AfD has already announced its next party conference in Erfurt in July 2026. We promise them: we will be there. With even more people who oppose them. Fascism is not an opinion, but a crime. We cannot wait until the AfD is banned. Until then, banning the AfD remains a manual labour."

Suraj Mailitafi, spokesperson for the resistance alliance:

"We must constantly remind ourselves that it is only through determined civil disobedience that we have achieved what we now take for granted. Things like women's suffrage, the end of slavery, labour rights. Yesterday, I felt this determination for change from us, ordinary people from the middle of society. So many people are now taking hope and courage into their everyday lives. Because anti-fascism and the fight for human rights take place every day: at work, at school, on the street." ...

OUTLOOK

6 FEBRUARY 2026 TRANSNATIONAL: COMMEMORATIONS

From the transnational call:

„EVERY LIFE IS WORTH MORE THAN THEIR LAWS, THEIR WALLS and THEIR WEAPONS

World day of action against the death regime at borders to demand truth, justice and reparation for victims of migration and their families.

In solidarity with those who have died or disappeared as a result of state violence along migration routes and in our neighbourhoods once again we, families and friends, will come together on 6th February on the occasion of the World Day of Commemoration and Action. The 6th February is devoted to the fight against border deaths and to demanding truth, justice and reparation for the victims of migration and their families, for victims of state racism.

On 6th February 2014 more than 200 people left the Moroccan coast in an attempt to swim to Tarajal beach, in the colonial enclave of Ceuta in Spain. The Guardia civil used anti-riot equipment to prevent them reaching "Spanish soil", whilst the Moroccan military present watched people drown before their eyes. Fifteen bodies were retrieved on the Spanish side, dozens more disappeared, the survivors were sent back and some perished on the Moroccan side.

Commemor-Actions are both commemorations and protests that aim, collectively, to build support systems for families in their pursuit of truth and justice regarding the loss of their loved ones. Thus, every year, actions of remembrance and denunciation are organised concurrently around the world. While racist policies of sorting, controlling and repressing populations continue to cause deaths, enforced disappearances and trauma, we refuse to forget the victims of these crimes along migration routes and in our own neighbourhoods.

From 2026, CommemorAction will be of an unprecedented dimension. For the first time we are combining the cause of the families of those lost on migration routes with that of the victims of police and prison violence. This convergence is essential and urgent, as it amplifies our collective voice and strengthens our determination to demand justice and dignity for all those whom we consider victims of state injustice.

We refuse to consider that some lives have less value than others. We call for the strengthening of actions of solidarity and collective resistance, from local to international level, from sea to city, across desert and mountains.

We call for greater mobilisation against police, judicial and prison violence, and against the criminalisation of exiled, racialised and precarious people. We demand freedom of movement and settlement and equal rights. We demand truth, justice and reparation for the victims of migration policies and state crimes, and for their families.

We call on all family groups of victims of migration necro-politics, solidarity groups and organisations and citizens of countries around the world, to take part in the global CommemorAction, 6th February 2026...."

6-8 MARCH IN DARMSTADT: WE'LL COME UNITED (WCU) MEETING

Following the caravan through eastern Germany and the parade in Berlin in September 2025, WCU is planning its next activities for 2026. To this end, there will be a network meeting in Darmstadt from 6 to 8 March 2026.

12-14 JUNE IN JENA: „ENTGRENZT" (DEBORDERED) - FIRST MIGRATION LAW CONFERENCE

„Borders are drawn, borders are made – in life and in law. Migration means crossing these borders, questioning them and dissolving them. Law also means setting limits on the state's claim to power. Not only people, but also authorities and courts cross borders. External borders are becoming higher, and the plans for the Common European Asylum System (CEAS) do not bode well.

We need answers. And we need to take a stand. All of us.

From 12 to 14 June 2026 (just in time for the launch of GEAS), the long-overdue

Migration Law Days will take place in Jena for the first time. Together with you, we want to dare to break down the boundaries of our present and future. We will discuss where rules are being overturned, how interpretation is opening up new paths, and where society and the law collide. Going beyond familiar legal formats, this is about more than just paragraphs. We will talk about the social and cultural dimensions of the blurring of boundaries between law, society and the future.

Controversial, courageous, inspiring. Let's go to Jena!"
